Save Our Parks

Thousands of Britain's parks and play areas are falling into disrepair or are under threat of being sold to developers.

This is despite the vital health and social benefits that our much-loved green spaces provide.

We support The Mail on Sunday's campaign to Save Our Parks from being lost forever.

A GENEROUS DECEIT <https://vimeo.com/298383446>

This 8-minute film (October 2018) directed by Dorothea Gibbs looks at the Armley House Red Book. Repton's words are read by Jeremy Irons, and Repton's watercolours are animated by Tom Langton.

Oak Spring Garden Library in Virginia funded the film of the Red Book which was acquired by the Library's founder, Mrs Rachel 'Bunny' Mellon. The film has been made available via the Garden Museum as part of its 'Repton Revealed' exhibition (2018).
